ORANGE GROWER DIES.

PORTUGAL'S INDEPENDENCE DAY
 LISBON, Dec. 2.—The two hundred and twenty-sixth anniversary of the independence of Portugal from Spanish domination has been celebrated by the signature of a treaty between the two countries delimitating their respective frontiers.

Walter L. Vall, for thirty years one of the largest land and cattle owners of Southern California, died yesterday from injuries received while stepping from a car at Grand avenue and Seventh street on Thanksgiving Day. He passed away surrounded by his loved ones at his home, No. 720 South Burlington street.

The sad accident, which resulted fatally yesterday, occurred about

ELDER STURDEVANT'S SECT.
NEW YORK, Dec. 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Led by a negro calling himself Elder Sturdevant, who comes from Los Angeles, a strange religious sect is holding meetings in this city, preparing to convert Africa, believing that the power to preach in languages that were unknown to them before had been given, as it was to the apostles on the day of Pentecost, as described in the first and second chapter of Acts in the New Testament and known as the "gift of tongues."

Children Scatter Flowers at Their Pastor's Feet.

Dr. Day returned from a two-months' absence in the Orient on a day last week under circumstances that rendered his home-coming one of the most interesting to the devoted members of his congregation. It was known that while abroad, Dr. Day had been offered the secretaryship of the National Congregational Home Missionary Society, with headquarters in New York, a position dealing with it great financial advantages.

The congregation had at once offered him a large increase in salary to induce him to remain, but Dr. Day had without delay held his final answer, yet he had held it in the pulpit at the first service at which he officiated after his return.

CHILDREN SCATTER FLOWERS
After the Doxology, forty children of the kindergarten class stood before the altar and sang a hymn, scattering flowers at the feet of their pastor as they sang.

The long-awaited answer did not come until the regular service had proceeded through half its course. Just before the anthem, Dr. Day came forward and in a few modest words said that he had been offered a position in one of the leading branches of

Dr. Day took for his text verses 24 and 25 of the eleventh chapter of Hebrews: "By faith Moses, when he was come to years, refused to be called the son of Pharaoh's daughter; choosing rather to suffer affliction with the people of God, than to enjoy the pleasure of sin for a season."

that Moses answered by choosing
"rather to suffer affliction with the people of God, than to enjoy the pleasure

over the various fields of human activity, it is easy to distinguish the men who have answered the call after the manner of Moses and have become factors in the history of the world.

Often he does these things not so much from desire to show that he is in accord with the ideas of those around him, as from a weak desire to escape being considered queer or foolish because of his own ideas.

"Accepting the same standard he will go into any game, athletic, political or otherwise, with the one idea of winning, whatever the means are."

to depart. Such a man's imprint is set in the life of the particular institution that he attends, and college life there is higher and better because of his presence.

"In citizenship and politics, subversion to conventionality starts on the down grade. The grafter in politics is a distinct evolution of conventionality. He is usually a man who has been born himself on a strong down-stream current, made little resistance and drifts along to it. It is an easy matter for him to bet his trust. Often he merely accepts the current and drifts along, not seeking to carry out any fixed ideal, his own and thus starts on a career that is bound to end in dishonor.

"The men who stand out for honor in politics are in such small relief to the mass of the materialists that they have answered as Moses did. The United States is a better place to ture. The man who refrains from a sins and temptations, with which perhaps he is not strongly confronted, prides himself on that, is often met the tool of conventionality. To Christian the stream of indifference and time-honored religious conventionality is often more dangerous than enjoy the pleasures of sin for a season which Moses foreswore."

It will be plain to every person w reads this that Mr. Lissner is a m who pays no attention to trifles w

to a newspaper that did not have quite enough advertising to fill up the Sunday issue, and had sent around to the headquarters of the partisan Non-Partisan for something to help out, and if it had to be printed free.

So Mr. Lissner told the eager reporter how it had come to him direct and straight, unequivocally and in plain question and to a dead certainty, that the "Republican organization" had caused the word down the lane to land Lindley and support Harpur.

And so this reporter wrote down how it was that the "machine" was smashing Lindley, and was herding those kinds of loyal Republicans in the Democratic fold, proving that they were herded in folds, and providing further that there is such a thing as a Democratic fold.

And this is the foundation for the statement made with such emphasis by Mr. Lissner, to wit: that Charles Amedon Moody of the Non-Partisan City Central Committee was introduced to a man who he understood was the committeeman of Prospect, which is in the Seventh Ward, and had said:

he came to meet the alleged committeeman, whose name and party had been dropped him, but he was positive that the man had said that orders had been given to support Harper.

Of course, if this committeeman was right, that is, he was a committeeman,
he is said to have been and still be supposed to be—if this hypothetical, let us call it, committeeman was a Democrat, it would be the most natural inference in the world for him to receive instructions from Democratic headquarters to work for Harper. If he was a Republican, and there is no evidence to support this supposition, he probably will hear from headquarters
that the word he will hear will be
"Lindley."

But then it is this kind of "dope"
upon which Lissner and his dupes argued. It is this kind of a stimulan-tial keeping up their spirits in the face of overwhelming defeat. It is to be lamented.

Water Wren Issues Statement.
To the Voters of the Third Ward:
To remove any doubt as to my attitude on the various issues affecting the city generally and our district in particular, I wish to make the following statement: First—I stand for the Oswest River enterprise and promise to use my best efforts to carry out this historic project honestly, economically in a businesslike manner, not only to save the water, but also all the power generated by it that the city
can get the full benefit therefrom.
Second—I believe fire protection in certain parts of the ward is entirely inadequate. My membership on the Board of Fire Commissioners has acquainted me with the situation.

As Councilman to see that better protection is afforded. As Fire Commissioner, I joined with my colleagues in asking the Council for needed appropriations, which were granted. As Councilman, I will be anxious to see more earnestly urge these appropriations. Third—I believe the fire department as they now exist are adequate for the present needs of our city. Fourth—I shall try to have the city purchase more fire trucks and engines to use that all streets, and especially crooked ones, in our ward, are kept in good order, and the fire department in general be made representative of our city. I shall use my best power and influence to see that better protection is afforded.

ARMY AND NAVY MEN.

W. P. Potter, assistant chief of the Bureau of Navigation of the department, has been selected to command the ship Vermont, now en route to the Pure River shipbuilding company of Quincy, Mass. This will probably be put in commission in the spring.

Gen. A. W. Greely, commandant of the northern military division, has been ordered to take command of the Department of Hawaii December 1, relieving Gen. T. J. Wain, who is ordered to proceed to Cuba to take command of the American troops in the territory relieving Brig-Gen. McQuay, who has been ordered home from Cuba.

To Meet the Demand.

These naval oranges really grow in a most unusual way. "Somebody discovered a way to make them grow that way," said a naval official. "It is fine if he could find a way to make chickens with four drumsticks."

The great centers of moral force and activity are in the city. The great churches are in the city. The great charities and the great philanthropies are in the great cities. Millions of dollars are raised every year, for the relief of the poor, for religious purposes and charitable work; and while money is, in itself, neither religion nor charity, yet, when thus used, it is the most potent factor of earnestness, the philanthropic hopefulness that are in the minds and hearts of a great many men and women in cities.

Thus, then, the city, in spite of the evils that are in it, is a missionary center. It always has been so. It always will be so. Christianity, the heaven were the beach-dwellers; the peasants were the men who dwell in the villages. Christianity came to the cities. Christianity came to the great cities of the Roman empire. The secretary, Walter S. Moore, called the roll of the departed. Fifty-one members of the lodge have passed since the last meeting. The names, in order of their existence, and as each name was called, the light of the candles was extinguished from the secretary's lips, one of the lights in the crosses faded out. As the last name was called, the chapel was left in darkness, and the last light glowed on the face of the seated figure. The organ slowly swelled into a dirge, and the choir sang, "The Lord's Prayer." Then, Mrs. and Mrs. Nell Lockwood-McCune, who, in a white-robed figure, sang that great hymn of solace.

When the solo ended the members of the lodge, at their opening order, sang "Great Ruler of the Universe, All-Seeing and Benign." Rev. Baker P. Lee, chaplain of the lodge, then gave the benediction. The "Lodge of Sorrow" was declared adjourned.

Direct. Many Los Angeles have purchased with its valuable contents, was destroyed in the fire. The company had previously decided to open its establishment in Los Angeles, for which purpose they imported a large stock of goods, and were now preparing to settle their losses and collect their debts. The fire, however, had not yet arrived. All efforts of the company to collect their debts were rendered fruitless, and they were unable to pay for the goods, and the bank in this city holding the documents of the goods, refused to deliver them. The draft, hence this emergency sale to satisfy the bank. The goods were of the highest quality, and had been sent here to settle the accounts of the company. The goods were sold only for the high-class trade, and were not intended for the low-class trade. The goods were sold for auction, therefore no pains were spared to make the goods as attractive as possible in the hearts of the Orient. The sale, coming at this season, affords the public an opportunity to make presents of oriental rugs—the most serviceable and acceptable of Christmas gifts.

The sale will commence Wednesday, December 15, at 10 o'clock, and will continue daily until all claims are settled, at the new store, 100 Broadway and Mill.

"Then Frederick B. Meyer came over from London and he preached the gospel of our Lord Jesus Christ with insame time a refined lady. 'Her influence on her husband largely contributed to his success and reputation. Her knowledge of business may have saved him from financial blunders. In her tongue was the law of kindness.' She knew human nature, and understood how to criticize. She avoided friction, because she was home life. Man, the head, and woman, the heart, of the home, must act in unison to share the joys of life, aye, even in sorrowful circumstances, for sorrow sympathetically shared is practically soothed. And this harmonious action of the head-man and the heart-woman is only possible when each does not meddle with the province of the other.

Delivery Charges Proposed.

Los Angeles merchants are discussing the advisability of dividing the city into various zones for the delivery of goods. Within a certain limit would be free, but outside this circle charges would be made according to the distance. The great territory which is now included within the city limits, and the probability of a further annexation of territory almost as large as the city itself makes this discussion a pertinent one.

Trading Stamp Plans.

The "Retail Grocer" reports that the retail grocers of this city have indorsed and will adopt the trading stamp system, but that it is to be completely divorced from any outside agencies, and will be a popular style of discount instead. The proposition is in charge of Secretary Paulding of the Retail Grocers' Association, and the local merchants will have their premiums placed on exhibition in a downtown store room. They expect to displace the old trading stamps with the merchants' Exchange trading stamps on the first of January.

Is a Bread War Coming?

Difficulty has arisen between the Master Bakers' Association and members of the Retail Grocers' Association which may result in a bread war. It is said the bakers claim that some of the merchants are not cooperating with them in their efforts to give them an additional profit of 10 per cent. on bread sales, and they declare that unless there is a change the bakers will abandon their efforts and will allow the grocers to sell leaves at any price which they may desire. It is claimed they claim will result in "cut prices" in bread sales that will bring about war. Twelve bakers concerned have been interested in the attempt to maintain uniform prices.

Lindley the Ideal Mayor.

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 2.—(To the Editor of The Times:—) As the coming contest for Mayor is of great importance to every citizen, this is a time when every man who has the best interests of our city at heart should show his colors.

Coming here six years ago from the great State of New York, where I was born and reared, I now recognize that Los Angeles is to become the world's greatest metropolis, and it is of most vital importance that the right man should be selected for Mayor in this coming contest for supremacy between three of our very best citizens.

In selecting our Mayor, a clean man of spotless character is the first point to be considered; the next one is his fitness for the office. I have made this contest a study ever since the different candidates were nominated; have attended the meetings of all parties; read all the papers; carefully weighed all the very complicated conditions, and have arrived at the decision that our best citizen, Walter Lindley, possesses all the qualifications in full rounded and heaped measure, to make us the ideal Mayor; one that we will all be very proud of. I have known him ever since I came to Los Angeles; he is a man of rare executive ability; very broad-minded; of excellent judgment and an all-around up-to-date business man.

Having thoroughly investigated all the circumstances associated with Dr. Lindley's life during the time he was superintendent of the Whittier School, and am satisfied that all that has been said against him should be weighed in the balance for all it is worth, and then stamped as a "great open-air lake." Walter Lindley's whole life is a clean, open book; I do not approve of defamation of character or what, in the parlance of today is termed "mud slinging," it lowers the standard of manhood and is not the right kind of unwarlike to fight honorable battles with, and always gives added lustre to the target. Walter Lindley is a man who will always stand for the right. If he stands alone he is quoted by some as a machine man. If he is a machine man, then I would say we Americans have another machine man; he is the one who is at the head of this nation, and all the nations of the world are taking of their hats and proclaiming in chorus that he is running the machine in a superior and admirable manner.

Coming events cast their shadows. The indicator is pointing to Walter Lindley as the people's choice.

The coming election is the most important one in the history of Los Angeles; let us all consider the best interests of our progressive city, and then vote for the candidate of our choice. If Walter Lindley is chosen it will be the best thing for our city, and the best thing for the life of our nation.

Yours for the welfare of Los Angeles, R. D. RICHARDS.
